

Traffic Practice Park and Police Museum

Tuesday, November 6, we went to Plaswijckpark in Rotterdam, with the whole class.

We went to a room where a teacher was telling us things of something like a bike exam.

There were 3 groups: The people that walk, who had a path to follow and had follow the rules.

The cyclists had to drive at the side of the road and the go-karts

(the cars) were allowed to drive anywhere but obviously had to follow the rules too.

Later we went to the police museum and then we were done for that day.

By Mark, Robby and Sharif.

